Letter from the Editor

2023

We have been busy with our events here at the CRC. The first week of Free Kick was a huge success, thank you to the Perth Football Club for sending their star players to Cunderdin for some mentoring. It was great for the kids to see a local young man Regan Hill with the Perth Football Club inspiring them with the pathway to reach star levels. Only 2 more weeks of Free Kick left and then I hope to see some of the kids on TV over the next few years playing for the Eagles—who I think could definitely use their skills!

“Pink Up Our Towns” looks like it is really taking off, Pink is my favourite colour so I’m a little excited for this event! I’ve got my knitting needles ready and I hope to provide some pink squares... but we will see, they could end up being triangles, knitting is not a specialty of mine!

Stay Warm!

Separating the wheat from the chaff so you don't have to.

The rains are finally here (or at least some rain) I hope everyone has received some. I've been enjoying the chilly mornings, there is something refreshing about experiencing that chill. Quickly followed by popping the heater on. Looking forward to a winter in the wheatbelt. - Dee Blom

Utopia - TV Series

Some may argue this is a reality tv show due to how scarily accurate it can be. Utopia follows a team of well meaning individuals who oversee major infrastructure projects. They attempt to wade their way through the politics and bureaucracy of being a government department. The 5th season has started on ABC iView, with the first 4 seasons available on Netflix. Celia Pacquola is a fantastic Australian acting talent along with Luke McGregor and Kitty Flanagan. At some point in every episode you will want to reach out to Rob Sitch and give him a reassuring hug as he juggles public servant life. Still not convinced? Working Dog Productions created this show. Sound familiar? They are the same production company behind the Aussie cult classics The Dish and The Castle. Utopia is going straight to the pool room!

Who Robs A Banksy? - Podcast

Banksy. A household name in the street art movement. But is he as underground and authentic as we have all been lead to believe? This podcast follows Andy Link, an artist in his own right, recall how he managed to have a Banksy status in his back garden for years. This podcast will have you asking what is art, who puts a price on art and how do you remain authentic when you make it big.

Chernobyl - TV Series + Podcast

Devastatingly beautiful. This series certainly haunted my thoughts long after I finished watching it. An important and topical series to dive into if you haven't already. Chernobyl is a historical drama series following the actions (and inactions) of various people in the aftermath of the 1986 nuclear disaster. It tells the story of the people on the ground who were first responders, miners and volunteers who put their lives in danger in the clean up in an attempt to save others. Each scene of this mini series is rich in cinematography, tone and atmosphere - a mini movie. A companion podcast was released alongside the TV series. Highly recommend listening to the podcast alongside each of the episodes of the TV series. It gives more insight and history to moments you feel are unreal, plus behind the scenes details of how the series was created.

The Wife and the Widow by Christian White - Book

Nothing like a good page turner when its raining outside and this novel will not disappoint. Crime. Suspense. And a serious twist which I personally didn't see coming. The second novel from White, and it doesn't fall short to the expectations set by his first. Told from the perspective of two women, one shrouded in grief for her husband, and another who is confronted with evidence her husband is a murderer. A dark and eerie island setting, think Shetland but in an Australian context. Definitely deserving of all the awards it has taken out.

Cloudstreet by Tim Winton - Book

I was reminded of this Australian classic when chatting with a friend recently. This book will be forever etched into my memory, pouring over the pages in intimate detail in high school (shout out to Mrs Tiller). This book was the beginning of how I fell in love with beautifully written novels. Winton captures the life and times of two rural families who moved to Perth to start a new chapter in their lives. It captures the social, economic and news of the era from the 1940s to 1960s. Winton's ability to personify the house they call home is a literary triumph. This book has won the Miles Franklin Award - literary award for novels that best represent Australian life in all of its phases and shapes.

Last chance to have your say

Comment closes 5pm 30 June 2023

The Biosecurity and Agriculture Management Act 2007 is one of WA's most important pieces of legislation.

It helps protect our multi-billion dollar food and fibre industries, as well as our unique environment, communities, cultural heritage and lifestyle, from destructive pests, weeds and diseases.

An independent panel is reviewing the BAM Act to make sure it continues to support our biosecurity system into the future.

Have your say on the opportunities for reform.

Eagles and Falcons swoop into the Central Wheatbelt for educational tour

The West Coast Eagles have travelled through the central Wheatbelt to run several educational programs in schools and junior football clubs

AFLW player Aimee Schmidt was joined by staff from the club's Community and Game Development team as well as the West Australian Football Commission and West Perth Football Club in an important regional visit across the Wheatbelt region. Education was on the agenda for the three day visit with programs such as Eagles Rock My School, Junior SOAR and Eagle Insight delivered to a number of school children while the popular Faction Footy got the kids moving.

Growing up in the Wheatbelt, Schmidt was ecstatic to head back to the region and provide some educational opportunities for the kids. "The trip was really good and it was a nice day out in Cunderdin. We ran some clinics with the kids at the primary school and then headed over to the footy club to run an Auskick clinic over there," she said. "Hopefully they can take a few things from us that we've taught them, and they can put it into their own footy and their own lifestyle." Schmidt said the reception from participants throughout the visit was extremely positive. "Those kids don't get to come to Perth very often so when they have people coming out to them I think they really appreciate it and they really enjoy it. When I was playing footy as a junior, I don't think I ever had people come out to us, it was always going out to Perth to do clinics and stuff like that so we never really had the same opportunity." "I think the ability for us to go out there and have our presence out in the Wheatbelt is really big." The trip was a joint initiative between the club, the WAFC and West Perth to educate the region's youth, with the Wheatbelt being part of the Falcons WAFL talent zone"

Free Kick — First Week

Our first session of Free Kick 2023 started off with a bang. The Perth Football Club selected three of their players Samuel Stubbs, Daniel Hill and Regan Hill to come to Cunderdin to educate our youth about careers around football and teach them a few practical skills. The night started off with the Perth football boys warming the Kids up and running through some football drills and teaching them some new skills, while that was happening we had Andrew Moore on the Lions BBQ trailer cooking up a storm. After the kids did a few hand balling, goal kicking and team building drills we gathered inside the sports club for some dinner. For dinner we had homemade pasta salad, toss salad, watermelon, kababs, sausages, cut up French stick and some yummy strawberry and chocolate milk. Lastly we had a wonderful PowerPoint presentation ran by Samuel Stubbs, the presentation was about his back ground, his family, jobs outside of football, his social media influencing and how he got into football. We also got to hear from Cunderdin's very own Regan Hill who talked about his journey.

Clearer pricing rules for funerals

There's nothing easy about losing a loved one, but we hope new WA laws will go a long way towards clearing up any confusion about what their final farewell will cost.

Funeral companies must now publicly display their prices upfront to give consumers the chance to compare costs without having to meet with a representative from the business to get this information. Consumers should now receive a full breakdown of prices and know exactly what the total cost of the funeral will be, so there are no surprises later on.

The new regulations in the Funeral Pricing Code of Practice stop sales practices that once made it difficult for consumers to make informed decisions at a very emotional time. In some previous cases, the final cost wasn't known until after the funeral was held, leading family and friends of the deceased to believe they had been overcharged.

Those consumers who decide to pay for their funerals upfront before they are needed should know they are protected by the mandatory Prepaid Funerals Code of Practice, which was introduced in 2021. The Code requires goods and services to be detailed in the contract, prices to be fixed at the time of signing, a 30-day cooling off period and payments to prepaid funeral funds to be managed within secure investments under the name of the client until they are required.

It's important to note that prepaid funeral cover is different to funeral insurance, which should be treated with caution given ongoing payments are required for the rest of a consumer's life – meaning they could pay significantly more than the actual payment their family will receive.

Funeral bonds bought through a funeral director, a friendly society or a life insurer are another way of saving for funeral expenses. After paying an initial deposit, regular payments are made over time and the money grows in value with interest. Money invested in this way can only be used for a funeral, meaning it can't be taken out earlier.

Ultimately we believe the simplest way to pay upfront for a funeral is to save up for it in a term deposit or savings account, separate to your everyday bank account.

The Moneysmart website has more information about the different options for paying for funerals at www.moneysmart.gov.au.

If you believe you have been misled about funeral costs, report it to Consumer Protection on consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au or 1300 30 40 54.

REVIEW OF DISABILITY ACCESS & INCLUSION PLAN

The Shire of Cunderdin is currently reviewing our Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP).

The purpose of a DAIP is to ensure that the Shire continually assesses the needs of people in the community and that people with disabilities have access to all information, services, and facilities.

A survey has been constructed to engage the community and encourage you to participate in the development of our DAIP.

Your participation will help us to identify any concerns, risks, opportunities, and potential solutions within our community.

The survey will be available online through the Shire of Cunderdin website and social media outlets.

A paper copy of this survey is available from the Shire Administration Office and Cunderdin CRC. If you would like to receive the survey via the mail, please contact the office on 9635 2700 and provide us with your postage details.

Survey responses need to be received by 4pm, Thursday 29th July 2023.

Lost Atlantis

King Neptune reigns

Atlantis Marine Park's slogan was "for the enrichment of mankind". Located in Two Rocks, Western Australia, it opened on Boxing Day, 1981. Touted as Seaworld meets Dreamworld, the much loved and controversial theme park was the vision of late WA businessman Alan Bond in partnership with Japan-based Tokyu Corporation. Atlantis was a part of the Sun City Precinct, which included a marina, yacht club, accommodation and shopping centre.

The park gates opened at 10 am, and more than 13 500 people visited in the first few days. Entrance to the park was $6 for Adults, $2.50 for Children, and $3 for Pensioners. The theme park included performing dolphins, seal shows, water slides, aqua playgrounds, roller coasters, paddle boats, and a souvenir shop.

Crowds flocked to see dolphins perform breathtaking leaps and seals clowning around. In the Oceanarium, visitors could see a close-up view of fish, rays, turtles, and sharks.

For hungry tummies, the Jolly Roger offered mouth-watering takeaways. The Aloha Polynesian Smorgasbord served tropical delights, and the Challenger Restaurant offered a fine-wine list and a la carte menu.

A giant 10-metre-tall limestone statue of King Neptune, Roman God of the Sea, was built by artist Mark Le Buse along with other quirky, ocean-themed sculptures, including the disembodied head of Jacques Cousteau. King Neptune still stands as a beloved local landmark and was restored in 2022 for the local community.

Six months before the park opened, seven bottlenose dolphins were captured from the wild and trained as performance animals. They were the major drawcard to the theme park for the next ten years. Three calves were born in captivity.

Atlantis Marine Park closed in 1990 due to financial difficulty and changing legislation that would require the construction of significantly larger dolphin enclosures. The surrounding residential and commercial areas became abandoned.

A long project to rehabilitate the dolphins for release into the wild followed. Three of the nine dolphins were eventually re-homed at Underwater World aquarium (now AQWA) after failing to live successfully in the wild. Marine biologist Kelly Waples worked on the project team and documented her experience. Many lessons learnt are still applicable to marine mammal releases today.

In 1972, developers launched the Yanchep Sun City "leisure city" with the Two Rocks Marina to be built as a training base for the 1974 challenge for the America's Cup yacht race. Many of the streets in Two Rocks were named after yachts competing in America's Cup. The listing recognises the significant contribution the seaside precinct has made to our State's heritage as the first residential, commercial and recreational investment project undertaken by a private company in the 1970s.

Cunderdin's War Days

On occasions when my Sister Jo and I meet our conversation frequently turns to the great times we had in our teens. This is often with a feeling of guilt as all our young men, including our brother, were away at war. But circumstances dealt us a lucky hand in that the powers that were, decided to establish an air training station in Cunderdin. This meant that we had about a thousand men in the town and many of them were about our age.

With three other girls, being Ruby Chatfield, Addie Smart and Margaret Williams we organised weekly dances in the Town Hall on a Wednesday night. This was no easy task as we had to work up the floor fit for dancing. The hall was used for pictures on Saturday nights and we spent our half day off on Wednesday afternoon, sweeping and chipping off the chewing gum and then applied our special secret treatment to the dance floor. The first dance the floor was a bit sticking, how ever from then on you were battling to stand as it was so slippery.

With Mr Harold Smart (Chief Engineer on the pumping station) volunteering his services on the door, we would charge 1/- (ten cents) admission per head, with the band charging £2 for their refreshments, a few cold beers, the rest, around £7 to £10 was donated to the Cunderdin Patriotic Council who supplied personal comforts to our local men overseas.

There was no such thing as a "wallflower" in those days as there were about five boys to each girl. Needless to say a number of girls travelled from Meckering and Tammin for the dances. The music was provided by a band made up of airmen and as time went by we finished up with a band completely of officers. Chief Flying Instructor, Col Strickland played drums, Eric Ramsay - piano, Geoff Mourish - saxophone and Paddy Maloney - violin. Looking back I think they found the music and the practicing a relaxation from instructing the young fellows how to fly.

We had great pleasure when invited to the Sergeants' or Officers' Mess's for a social and dance and a super supper. I have found an old invitation which maybe of interest. The training station also ran two or three big balls each year held in their large recreation hall, which was about three times the size of the Cunderdin hall. All the men on the base were allowed to attend and there were often bus loads of girls from Perth. These included the wives and the girl friends of the men stationed here.

Most of the girls had a mild romance at this time, some even found the man of their dreams and married an airman. It seemed a strange world when the station closed and we had to settle back to normal life .

PUMPKIN SOUP

Ingredients

- 1.2 kg / 2.4 lb pumpkin (any type) OR butternut squash , unpeeled weight (Note 1)
- 1 onion, sliced (white, brown, yellow)
- 2 garlic cloves , peeled whole
- 3 cups (750ml) vegetable or chicken broth/stock , low sodium
- 1 cup (250 ml) water
- Salt and pepper

FINISHES:

- 1/2 – 3/4 cup (125 – 185 ml) cream , half and half or milk (Note 2)

Instructions

- Cut the pumpkin into 3cm / 2.25" slices. Cut the skin off and scrape seeds out (video is helpful). Cut into 4cm / 1.5" chunks.
- Place the pumpkin, onion, garlic, broth and water in a pot – liquid won't quite cover all the pumpkin. Bring to a boil, uncovered, then reduce heat and let simmer rapidly until pumpkin is tender (check with butter knife) – about 10 minutes.
- Remove from heat and use a stick blender to blend until smooth (Note 3 for blender).
- Season to taste with salt and pepper, stir through cream (never boil soup after adding cream, cream will split).
- Ladle soup into bowls, drizzle over a bit of cream, sprinkle with pepper and parsley if desired. Serve with crusty bread!

ATTENTION
PEOPLE WITH HEEL AND ARCH PAIN

Plantar Fasciitis (planar heel pain) is a common condition that causes pain under the heel of the foot, and may extend into the arch area.

WHAT ARE THE SYMPTOMS?
 The pain under the heel is worse when the person first steps out of bed in the mornings, or after sitting for long periods of time. It is relieved after walking about for a few minutes, then returns towards the end of the day. Resting will ease the pain, until you get up again.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE?
 The exact cause of plantar heel pain is unknown, but we do know this is a degenerative process in which micro tears occur within the plantar fascia. Several risk factors including over-pronation (rolling inwards of foot), tight calf muscles and long periods of standing/walking hard floors have been well established.

TREATMENT
 Some of the more common treatments we offer are:

- Custom foot orthotics
- Corticosteroid injection
- Dry-needling
- Rehabilitation

WHY SEE WA FOOT CLINICS?
 Plantar heel pain is a complex issue and treatment varies depending on the cause. At WA Foot Clinics we have Podiatrists that are highly trained foot professionals who see and treat heel pain on a daily basis.

Cunderdin Police encourage all local businesses to regularly check their security cameras are in good working order. Footage from these can be extremely helpful in police investigations.

Things to check regularly:

- Cameras are recording and saving footage
- Cameras are appropriately positioned
- Footage is able to be downloaded
- Team members are able to access footage

To find out more about CCTV footage and how you can register your cameras with police, go to: <https://cam-mapwa.police.wa.gov.au/>

Thank you for your help in keeping our community safe.

If someone treats you bad, just remember that there is something wrong with them, not you. Normal people don't go around destroying other people.
